

Program: English      Program Coordinators: Courtney Bailey-Parker and Alexandria LaFaye

Program Mission Statement:

In the English Department at Greenville College, we empower students to build professional and creative skills in a faith-based environment. We dedicate ourselves to four interrelated pursuits: experiencing and analyzing the diversity and depth of literature in the English language; investigating the origins of that language; cultivating exceptional writing skills in academic, professional, and creative contexts; and reading texts within a global context. Our chief mission as educators is to enable students to realize the great worth of the literary life, which prepares students for global citizenship as critical thinkers, careful readers, arts advocates, and dedicated professionals.

Program/Major Objectives: Qualities and competencies expected in graduates from this program/major

At the close of their degree students will be able to:

1. Reading Objectives: Students will be able to discuss, critique, and synthesize complex texts.
2. Writing Objectives: Students will be able to produce well-crafted, well-organized, and well-documented writing that communicates critically, creatively, and journalistically, depending on their area of concentration and career goals.
3. Literature Objectives: Students will encounter and interpret British, American, Continental, and non-Western literature and apply various critical approaches to literary texts and authors.
4. Integrate the theory and praxis of visual, performative, media and written cultural forms. (CVCMS)
5. Generate integrated creative works in art, literature, performance, cinema, and media criticism. (CVCMS)
