

Program: Theological Studies

Mission Statement: The theological studies major trains students to think honestly, courageously, and methodically about God by introducing them to the rich and diverse resources of the global church, past and present, and by nurturing openness to God through spiritual disciplines.

Program/Major Objectives:

At the close of their degree, theological studies students should be able to:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of basic Christian doctrine.
2. Display an understanding of the nature, development, and diversity of the Christian theological tradition, and a willingness to reflect critically on one's own theological orientation and worldview.
3. Exhibit familiarity with the history, context, and interpretation of Christian Scripture, and demonstrate an understanding of Scripture's significance for Christian life.
4. Translate theological knowledge and conviction into a life of vocation and service.
